

mix+

summer knights

It wouldn't be an English summer if we didn't have a spot or two of rain. Thankfully, it literally was only a spot or two, as the weather just held out for the 2009 MorrCo Cup.

This was the second polo cup for the interior fit-out and refurbishment contractor, and was once again a huge success with the hosts winning the trophy.

Apart from the fantastic polo played, the main attraction of the day came courtesy of the Knights of Middle England, who put on a show of jousting. The Knights provided great entertainment, involving watching kids and adults alike.

Guests were also treated to a tasty hog roast, BBQ and that all-important taste of summer that is the Pimms tent. And while the adults enjoyed such amenities, the kids were kept busy with stilt walkers, a face painter and a bouncy castle.

The guys at MorrCo would like to thank everyone who came along - and tell us they're looking forward to next year already ●